

BLACK LEADS IN FIRST FORECAST

Cromwell's Political Straw Votes Favor the Governor Over Judge Carroll.

Tom Cromwell, the Cincinnati Enquirer's Kentucky political correspondent, gave his first forecast of the coming Democratic state primary in his paper Sunday. As Cromwell's forecasts, made up after taking straw votes over the state, have never yet failed to be proven true indications of the vote to be cast at the polls later, what he has already found out about several of the races in Kentucky will be of interest. He says in part, that in the governor's race: To date returns have been received from persons usually well informed in 49 of the 120 counties. It is the consensus of those returns that the vote will be light and that Gov. Black has the better of the argument, but since the populous county of Jefferson is one of the 71 unreported counties and only 16 of the strongly Democratic counties west of Louisville have been heard from, these returns should not be taken as conclusive, though they unquestionably will be reassuring to the friends and supporters of Gov. Black. Of the 49 counties reported, 35 are accorded to Gov. Black and 14 to Judge Carroll.

Cromwell further says: Estimates were attempted in only 38 counties in the race between William H. Shanks, of Stanford, and Ronald C. Oldham, of Winchester, for the Democratic nomination for Lieutenant Governor. Shanks is given majorities in 19 of the counties, aggregating 11,700 and Oldham in 18 counties, aggregating 6,930, affording Shanks a lead of 4,770. If the remainder of the state has the same complexion as that given in the returns already made, Henry M. Bosworth has no occasion to worry about whether or not he will get the nomination for auditor. Estimates have been received from 35 counties in this race. Of these Bosworth, with pluralities of 12,800, has 25. Nearest to him is John W. Rawlings, of Danville, with five counties, with pluralities of 1,526. Brouse, of Somerset, is accorded a plurality with pluralities of 720 and Vance is given his own county of Henderson by a plurality of 300 over Bosworth.

Hon. William H. Shanks, of Stanford, candidate for the Democratic nomination for Lieutenant Governor, with Mrs. Shanks, spent Sunday here, with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. T. E. Baldwin. Mr. Shanks says that he has been over most of Kentucky in his campaign and will continue to make an active canvass till the polls close. He says he is greatly encouraged with the support he is receiving and is very hopeful of success on the 24 day of August.

That interest is increasing in the governor's race between Judge Carroll and Gov. Black, is evident to all. The Carroll supporters are making claims that their champion is gaining fast. The Franklin county democratic committee, by a vote of 15 to 5 endorsed Judge Carroll's candidacy Saturday. As there are 24 members of the committee, however, it is evident that some other were not present or did not vote on the question. Franklin county is in Judge Carroll's home congressional district, the 7th, and he naturally is very strong there, though Gov. Black's friends are not waiting.

Carroll admirers called an informal meeting in Richmond for Saturday, but owing to the Chautauqua, it did not materialize. Judge Carroll has a number of warm friends here and many admirers, but that Gov. Black will carry Madison by an overwhelming majority, seems a foregone conclusion, unless there is a change of sentiment between now and the day of the primary election.

Gov. Black spoke at Owenston Saturday and in the course of his remarks he replied to criticism that he had not clean house at Frankfort, asserting that he could not remove any of Gov. Stanley's appointees without legal cause. "If Judge Carroll knows of a single provable case of fraud and he will make that fact known to me," said the governor, "I will start cleaning house at once." Gov. Black referred to Col. Eli Brown, a Stanley appointee, as the "sickest, oiliest politician in Kentucky." He said Brown was a Carroll man and one among other Stanley appointees who are behind the Judge's cause. Black was caustic in his remarks regarding the Harless tax compromise in Fayette county.

The Montgomery County Fair Association has named opening day, Wednesday, July 23, as "Political Day," and every candidate on both Democratic and Republican tickets has been asked to go to Mt. Sterling before that occasion. It is hoped to have Governor Black and his staff present as well as all the State officers and candidates. In connection with "Political Day" observed and the Montgomery County Derby at a distance of one and one-eighth miles will be run for a purse of $300 with a handsome floral design given to the winner. From all indications the largest crowd ever in Mt. Sterling will be present. On that day the R. C. Oldham Club from Clark county, together with a brass band, will visit the fair in the interest of their candidate for the Democratic nomination for Lieutenant Governor.

STATE TAX BOARD ACCEPTS ASSESSMENT

County Tax Commissioner Ben F. Powell and his able assistant, Deputy Will Adams, are getting the assessment books of the county ready for the taxpayers for the coming assessment. The Tax Commission at Frankfort accepted the increase of $2,900,000 as made on the last assessment of Madison county and the books are closed. It will be recalled that the Tax Commission ordered a total raise of $4,600,000 in round numbers on Madison's assessment as originally made. This makes the total of Madison county taxable property $24,926,042.

There was much objection to what the taxpayers felt was an unreasonable increase, and after devoting a great deal of time, to the matter, the Supervisors did not feel able that they could in justice to the county, make the raise over $2,900,000. They endeavored to reach an equitable assessment of 85 per cent of property valuation, and this being what the State Tax Board desired, it accepted the work of the local board. The State Tax Board is up against the same proposition in Fayette county, and it seems that an amicable adjustment is about to be reached over there.

Sheriff P. S. Whitlock has mailed to the Louisville & Nashville railroad a statement of the amount due Madison county for 1919 taxes. The statement shows that the railroad has 66.95 miles of road in the county, and the total amount of taxes due is $6,264.45. Of this amount $4,330.33 is for county purposes and $1,934.07 is for school purposes.

Potatoes Have Warts

The potato wart has appeared in Pennsylvania. President Wilson indicated very clearly to newspaper correspondents that war time prohibition would continue until National prohibition went into effect.

President Wilson is to ask armed intervention in Mexico by Congress for the protection of American lives and property also for the protection of British and French interests. ## Western Ky. Corn Sells High Thirty-five thousand bushels of corn grown last year were sold by J. W. Anthony, Carl Staser, Ed Kuester, Mose Stinchfield and John Neel, of Henderson, to the Kerr Grain Company at Nashville, Tenn., at $2.01 and $2.01 1-2 per bushel, delivered at Rhamas Station, three miles north of Henderson, in Indiana. Delivery will be in freight cars and will begin Monday. The price is the highest ever paid for corn in that section. About ten thousand bushels of the purchase brought the top figure. Col. R. H. Soaper, largest corn grower in Henderson county, has been offered $1.95 a bushel on river bank for 33,000 bushels of corn. He refuses less than $2.

TRIUMPHAL PARADE IN FRENCH CAPITAL

(By Associated Press)

Paris, July 14—The triumphal march of the Allied and American troops through Paris began at 8 o'clock this morning. The weather was brilliant. A thousand wounded soldiers preceded by a drum corps led the parade.

Guns began firing at minute intervals as President Poincare placed a wreath at foot of the Centotaph at the Arc De Triomphe. An empty casket was placed there in honor of the allied dead. He also decorated Marshal Joffre the victor of the first battle of the Marne, who rode under the Triumphant Arch at 8:45. Behind him came Marshal Foch.

A storm applause arose from the vast throng as the two Marshals passed the President's stand.

General Pershing, with a number of American generals, came next and was received with equal enthusiasm. Forty American organizations, marching in wonderful precision, were greeted by a sea of waving handkerchiefs, flags, and deafening cheers.

TO REPEAL PARKING ON FIRST STREET

So much complaint has been heard over the parking ordinance as it affects First street, that all of the members of the City Council are understood to have agreed to repeal this feature of the parking ordinance at their next meeting. The country people who from time immemorial have used First street on court days for horse and mule trading were forced off, it last court day by parking of autos in the center of the street.

Led by T. K. Hamilton, of Hamilton Bros., First street business men signed a petition to the council to repeal the parking law as it applies to First street, and assurance has been given that the country people may again use First street to their heart's content next court day. This will apply also to the melon vendors as well as mule sellers, for the time for ripe melons, for which Madison is noted, is close at hand and during the season First street is the marketing place for the country folks for this luscious product of the soil.

Schools Get $100,000 From Dogs

The total number of dog licenses issued since January, with 62 counties missing for July, 15 for May, and three for the four months preceding, was 212,662 and 251 kennel licenses, including 2,650 more dogs, while 6,100 dogs have been killed. The revenue from these licenses was $251,751, compared to $179,128, returned by the county assessors in 1918. Commissioner Cohen estimates that the school fund will receive approximately $100,000 from the licenses. In 1917 the Auditor's report shows the school fund received $45,886.75. While $44,203.56 were paid on sheep claims the same year, the report does not show the actual amount for sheep killed, as at that time the funds credited to each county were prorated among the claimants, whose claims were thus extinguished each year, and few counties ever had enough to their credit to make full payment.

In Fayette county the sheriff makes a report which shows the immediate effect of the enforcement of the law. He said that up to the time in February when he began catching unlicensed dogs, but 870 had been licensed. Since that time the number has been increased to 2,700. He has impounded 144 and killed 120.

MADISON'S HEROES ARE COMING HOME

Lieut. Edward rGay Only Local Boy To See Hun Prison From Inside, Is Back

Lieut. Edward Gray, the only soldier from Madison who saw the inside of a Hun prison, has returned home, and is with his sister, Mrs. W. C. Soper, and other relatives and friends in this county. Lieut. Gray has been mustered out of service. Although wounded at the time he was captured by the Huns at Chateau-Thierry, he has completely recovered and is in fine health. Lieut. Gray says that after he and the other Yank soldiers who were captured reached the German prison camp they were not subjected to any indignities, but before that their treatment was rough. Lieut. Gray's letters to his sisters, here, describing his prison life both while he was confined and afterwards when the German censorship had been removed, were printed in the Daily Register, and were read with much interest at the time. He is being given a cordial welcome back home.

Several others of Madison's sons who particularly distinguished themselves in their service for Uncle Sam have been sleeping in home one by one, in a quiet way, and oftentimes their coming has hardly been noticed. For instance, John Stoller Best, who recently came home, had the distinction of having served in the army longer than any other Madison boy. He was a member of the marines which held the Marne in the famous drive last summer, when the Huns met their first great check. Young Best has been a member of the marine corps since April 1915 long before the United States got into the war. He served in Haiti, where he engaged in the fighting against the rebels, and was wounded in the head slightly. In December 1916 he was in Philadelphia and after that was in charge of the German prisoners from the interned German warships. Until June 1917 he was stationed at Pensacola, Florida, helping organize an anti-aircraft school, and then was sent to Quantico, Va., and prepared for overseas service. He went over with his regiment on the Crown Prince, and arrived at Marseilles, France, June 26th where the marines were under the instruction and training of the French (blue) devils for three months. In March 1918, at the time of the first great Hun offensive, they went into the line at Verdun, to relieve French detachments, and were in the trenches 17 days. After that he saw 28 days of solid fighting in Belleau Woods. He was scorched by gas and sent to a hospital, and after that fought the Huns again at Soissons, and in the first major American offensive at St. Mihiel. After that he fought in the Champagne region and was there when the armistice was signed. He went over into German with the army of occupation, and has just come back home, covered with service stripes, and honors.

Owen Yates, was another Madison boy, who saw the bitter end of the fighting and was wounded. He went home without ostentatious fanfare, through the hardest fighting of the war in France, and was twice reported as severely wounded. He pulled thru however, much to the delight of his many friends and families, and is back safe at home again, bearing his honors modestly and commended on all sides for the gallant part that he played in winning the war.

EFFICIENCY LECTURE AND MOVING PICTURES

A capacity audience is expected Tuesday night at the Alhambra Theatre when the famous retail merchandising lecture of The National Cash Register Company will be given for the first time in this city by R. H. Kennedy, expert lecturer. The lecture, together with the feature film, "Troubles of a Merchant and How to Stop Them", was brought to this city through the efforts of the Chamber of Commerce. Reports from cities indicate that it is the most interesting educational lectures ever brought out. Admission will be free.

During the course of the lecture, the great value of newspaper advertising to the retail merchant will be discussed by Mr. Kennedy. By means of stereopticon slides he will show the proper way to prepare newspaper advertisements, how to get the best results, and why the retail merchant should adopt a continuous advertising policy. The matter of window displays, store organization, store system, arrangement of goods, etc., will also be taken up. Slides analyzing the causes of business failure will be shown.

The film tells in an interesting manner the story of Mr. White, a merchant, who, through lax methods of doing business, was on the verge of bankruptcy. His store was located in an old fashioned building; high windows prevented the proper display of merchandise; and the whole appearance of the store was unattractive. The interior of the store was badly arranged, and his system was the cause of the store continually losing money. The entire time of Mr. White was taken up in worrying where he stood financially.

At this point, the film takes up the story of the change in Mr. White's career. He was induced by an outsider to clean up his store, install a modern business system, and he was soon on the road to success. How he finally became prosperous is unfolded by the film.

The lecture contains the best facts of retail merchandising gained in thirty-four years' experience of The National Cash Register Company in dealing with merchants in every part of the world. Without a doubt, it is the most comprehensive lecture on the subject, and the Chamber of Commerce feels that every merchant and sales person in the city will attend the lecture to gain a better knowledge of business methods. The lecture will begin at 8:30 o'clock.

Rheumatism? Why Suffer from It?

It is a common ailment. That is why it is so common. Doubtless many of our readers have often suffered from this question, which is a real main unsatisfied desire. Science has shown that Rheumatism is caused by a germ in your blood, and the only way to reach it is by a remedy which eliminates and removes these little pain-de-mons. This explains why "Liniments and lotions can do no permanent good, for they cannot possibly reach these germs, which infect your blood by the millions. S. S. ## FAMOUS CARTOONIST CLOSES CHAUTAUQUA

The big seven-day Redpath Chautauqua will be brought to a fitting climax by the "Big Joy Night" of Alton Packard, the famous cartoonist. Mr. Packard is one of the real "big stars" of the Chautauqua world. He was for a years cartoonist on the Chicago Record Herald and his cartoons have been printed all over the world. His humor is of the breezy type that brings forth laugh after laugh, while the musical numbers he offers are clever and all of his own compositions.

In the afternoon the Metropolitan Quartette delighted a large audience. This is one of the very best quartettes ever heard in Richmond.

Pledges for a Chautauqua next year were liberally signed Saturday night between acts of the play, "It Pays to Advertise." There was a generous response to the plea for enough pledges for season tickets to assure another Chautauqua. Owing to the increased cost of attractions, next year's program will cost about $250 more than this year's but the people have proven by the magnificent attendance this season that they want the Chautauqua and its reappearance is practically assured.

A splendid audience was present at the play Saturday, and to say that everyone seemed pleased is expressing it mildly. The performance was a rollicking comedy from start to finish, full of good, clean laughter, and in every way up to the high standard that the Redpaths always furnish. Some mighty clever and effective arguments were presented that it does pay to advertise and if there was anyone who was not convinced of that fact, he must be hard to convince, that's all there is to it.

Tonight's program brings the Chautauqua to a close, and all indications are that it will prove in every way, financially and otherwise, the most successful attraction of the kind ever presented here.

THIS GAL HAS KEPT POLICE RATHER BUSY

(By Associated Press)

Oklahoma City, July 12.—One of the most troublesome problems United States marshals and sheriffs of the southwest have had to contend with in recent years promises to be indefinitely postponed through the arrest recently at Muskogee, Oklahoma of Maybelle Fanning, or as she is perhaps better known "Peggy Willard". Police Bertillon records give her aliases as follows:

Lena Jackson, Dorothy West, Mrs. R. L. Green, Mrs. Bronson and Mrs. Donnelly.

Peggy's open boast has been that the law would never be able to keep her behind iron bars, and thus far it hasn't. Peggy, incidentally, has confessed to attempted murder, petty and grand larceny, diamond thieving, bootlegging and white slavery.

James Findlay of the United States Bureau of investigation avers the young woman has developed her "profession" to the highest degree. Police of various Texas cities insist, in written communications to Muskogee, that she paid a Texas lawyer $500 a week to insure bond and freedom.

Peggy was first convicted of felony May 25, 1912. Police arrest her "haul" of diamonds, her favorite plunder, amounted to $100,000 on that occasion. She was paroled August 6, 1912 but latter was apprehended on old indictments, and sent back to the state prison, April 19, 1913 she was sentenced to three years more, charged with assisting with attempt to kill Leo Simons, a Texas sheriff.

She obtained her freedom by promising to testify against an alleged accomplice in this case. Her pardon was granted but she refused to testify after being released. She was tried on the white slave charge in Oklahoma City in May, 1917. Shortly after arriving at McAlester state penitentiary she made an appeal bond and obtained freedom again. She remained at liberty until a few weeks ago when she was incarcerated at Muskogee on a charge of stealing automobile tires at Vinita, Okla. Through a jail employee's error she escaped again.

June 29 Inspector Findlay received a message from Coffeyville, Kansas, informing that Maybelle Fanning and her six aliases had been arrested. She is awaiting trial on the auto-tire charge at Muskogee. Peggy Willard is about 28 years old. She is well educated and has been credited with being pretty enough to be attractive.
